MARZO

The bulletin board is densely packed with various informational materials, including:

- Two newspaper clippings at the top left, each featuring a photograph of a person working on a structure and several columns of text.
- A large newspaper clipping in the center-left with a prominent photograph of a construction site and multiple columns of text.
- A newspaper clipping in the center-right with a photograph of a building and columns of text.
- A newspaper clipping at the bottom center with a photograph of a person working on a structure and columns of text.
- Several smaller newspaper clippings and photographs scattered throughout the board, some showing construction activities and others showing people.
- A small purple and white graphic or flyer on the right side.
